

meet your instructor:

Laura Kotelman

About Me

I host bee hives at my home and am a gardener, and artist who has hosted honey tastings for over a decade with my husband Paul. I've studied honey sensory analysis through UC Davis and love teaching people of all ages how to taste honey like an expert.

I'm also a mom of three curious kids who help keep my classes fun, engaging, and full of wild bee facts!

When I'm not working as a grant manager, you can find me in the garden, enjoying local foods, or planning our next travel adventure that usually involves biking.

My Favorites

- Creating & Sharing Beauty
- Family Adventures
- Connecting People & Communities

